

A lasting commitment to sustainability

Every decision we make today, from sourcing to final delivery, is a step toward a more resilient future. Sustainability for us isn't a destination – it's a daily practice that shapes our future, and the future of paper.

As a trusted partner, we work to ensure that paper remains a sustainable choice for generations to come – for our customers, for society, for the planet.

ABOUT MAHAVEER PAPERS

What makes paper sustainable?

Paper is a renewable material when sourced from wood harvested in sustainably managed forests. Healthy forests act as carbon sinks, absorbing CO2 from the atmosphere and helping mitigate climate change. Through responsible sourcing and sustainable manufacturing processes, paper becomes an invaluable resource that support circular economy. Even as much 70% of graphic paper produced in Europe is being recycled and reused. Compared to other industries, paper manufacturing has significant potential to be truly sustainable. The paper industry is highly certified, relying on a fully renewable raw material and producing a recyclable product. By using renewable resources to create recyclable goods, the industry contributes to a sustainable future.
